

Arild Nodland – Bergen Risk Solutions

Arild Nodland is the Founder and Chief Executive Officer of Bergen Risk Solutions, a private intelligence and security consultancy established in 2006. Prior to starting Bergen Risk, Arild worked as a project manager for the United Nations and as a security advisor for European Union election observation missions. He served 9 years in the Norwegian armed forces, most of the time deployed in NATO and UN-led peacekeeping missions worldwide. Arild holds two Masters Degrees; one in International Studies (1993) specializing in defence and security studies, and a Master of Arts degree (2005) specialising in political risk analysis and religions' role in global politics.